David Kamp speaks at Healthcare Design.10

New York, NY – October 18, 2010 – David Kamp, FASLA, LF and Principal of Dirtworks, PC will speak at the Healthcare Design.10 on November 15, 2010 in Las Vegas, NV. Healthcare Design.10 is a four-day, multi-faceted learning and networking experience focused on the delivery and discussion of innovations in healthcare facilities now and into the future.

David Kamp will speak on “Nature and Human Nature.” The presentation will explore the question: “How can design enhance our individual experience of nature, find expression for our collective value of nature, and help restore nature’s role in improving health?” in the context of three perspectives: individual health, community health, and environmental health.
